advertises the next edition of the title. Other content includes advertisements for telephone sexual services, sexual merchandise, and explicit sex magazines and videos.

The images and text consistently present the participants as relaxed and the activities as consensual, whether the images are incorporated in advertising or are the major feature in the photo-stories. Activities depicted include masturbation, fellatio, vaginal and anal intercourse (sometimes simultaneously), and male ejaculation. In three stories the female subject engages in sexual activity with three or more men, and in one story she engages with two men.

The magazine presents females in particular in a moderately degrading and dehumanising manner, and includes depictions of moderately degrading and dehumanising sexual conduct. The formularised and repetitive presentation of male ejaculation on females' faces is especially prominent in this respect, however its impact is moderated by the consensual manner of the sex. While there is an emergent theme of females being constantly available for sexual contacts, it is moderated by the way in which the women present as having a significant degree of control. Degrading and dehumanising close-ups, while individually having significant visual impact, are a sufficiently minor proportion of the publication as to be mitigated by the predominance of full-scene and full-body shots. The combined effects and relationships of these considerations are sufficiently moderate as to render likely injury to an adult readership to be minor.

Consideration has been given to the relevant provisions of the New Zealand Bill of Rights Act 1990 as they relate to this publication. Given the sustained, explicit sexual content and the purpose for which it is intended to be used, the restriction on the availability of the publication is considered to be reasonable and demonstrably justifiable.
